Following our telephone conversation of the other day, I should very much like to extend an invitation to Mr Casey to join us for a luncheon some time in September. I envis- a fairly restricted gathering of Bureau members directly concerned with national security issues, and expect that several of the editors from New York will want to join us depending on their schedules.

Perhaps you could let me know if the Director is willing to accept our invitation and then we can arrange a date.

I look forward to hearing from you,

Yours sincerely

Chris Redman.
